STEWARDSHIP AND MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 1:6-8; II Cor. 8:1-5.

GOLDEN TEXT—It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful (I Cor. 4:2).

PRIMARY TOPIC—Love Gifts for God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Love Gifts for God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What it is to Be a Christian Steward.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Stewardship of Self, Substance and Service.

I. Witnessing for Christ (Acts 1:6-8).

This is the supreme obligation resting upon believers in this age. While we are not responsible for bringing in the kingdom, we are under solemn obligation to witness to the salvation which is graciously provided for all who believe in Jesus Christ.

1. The disciples' question (v. 6).

They said, "Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" The phrase "this time" indicates their perplexity as to the time of the kingdom's establishment. They were entirely right in their expectation of the kingdom, for it had been predicted by the prophets, and announced by Christ as "at hand." However, they were in darkness as to the real purpose of God in calling and establishing the church. This is a matter concerning which there is much confusion today.

2. Christ's answer (vv. 7, 8).

He turned their attention from the desire to know times and seasons, which belong to God, to their supreme duty. They were to be witnesses of Christ to the uttermost parts of the earth, beginning at Jerusalem.

II. Christian Stewardship (II Cor. 8:1-9).

1. Examples of true Christian benevolence (vv. 1-5).

The liberality of these Macedonian churches exhibits practically every exalted principle and motive entering into the giving which has God's sanction.

(1) The source of true giving (v. 1). This is said to be the grace of God, by which is meant that the disposition to give freely of our means is created by the Holy Spirit.

(2) They gave from the depths of their poverty, not from the abundance of their riches (v. 2). Their limited means did not cause them to be stinted in their gifts, but their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality. On the basis of this philosophy, our poverty ought to be a call for greater generosity, for God has promised that if we give liberally He will give liberally in return.

(3) Their willingness surpassed their ability (v. 3).

God's gifts are reckoned by the degree of willingness, not by the amount given (see v. 12, cf. 9:7).

(4) They were insistent on being allowed the privilege of giving (v. 4).

(5) They first gave themselves to the Lord (v. 5). This is most fundamental to right giving, for when one gives himself to the Lord there is no reason for withholding his gifts. If one does not first give himself there will be the desire to retain as much for self as can be done within the bounds of respectability. We should first induce men and women to give their lives to the Lord.

2. Emulsion of Macedonian benevolence urged (vv. 6-15). Moved by the generosity of the Macedonian churches, Paul desired Titus to commend to the Corinthians the same grace. This he urged upon them.

(1) Not as a command (v. 8). Acceptable giving must not only be liberal, but spontaneous.

(2) As a proof of the sincerity of their love (v. 8).

(3) As the completion and harmony of Christian character (v. 7).

The Corinthian church abounded in spiritual gifts such as faith, utterance, knowledge, diligence, and love for their ministers, but the grace of liberality was needed for the harmony of their lives.

(4) The self-sacrificing example of Christ (v. 9). Self-sacrifice is the test of love. All who have enthroned Him as the Lord of their lives, crowned Him Lord of all, will desire to imitate Him in all things.

(5) The true principle upon which gifts are acceptable with God (vv. 10-12).

God does not estimate the value of a gift upon the ground of intrinsic worth, but of the underlying motive of the giver.

(6) Because of common equality (vv. 13-15). Every Christian should give something. The law governing the gift is the ability of the giver.

His Presence

Many Christians cannot realize His presence because for them Christ lives in their heads or Bibles, but not in their hearts.

Helping God

There is but one way in which man can ever help God—that is, by letting God help him.—John Rankin.

FOREST VIEW

We are having some pretty days after having so much rain and wind for a month or more. Last Sunday was a real March day, little flurries of snow and wind blowing.

The farmers are preparing for another crop, and gardening time is about here.

Mrs. Carl Ewers, of Lynchburg, spent several days recently with her mother, Mrs. T. H. Ford, who has been sick some time but is something better now.

Miss Mary Susie Fore is spending this week with Miss Alta Pugh while the latter's mother is visiting her son, Tyndall Pugh in Lynchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyndall Pugh are all smiles—A boy.

The road force scraped our road yesterday and it is to be hoped we can get over the road much better now as the deep winter ruts were very bad indeed.

Mr. C. J. Godsey continues in a weak condition. We hope after spring opens he may be much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Everette Ferguson and children and Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Harvey spent last Sunday in Lynchburg.

Mr. Lawrence Hudson, who is working in Lynchburg, visited his home folk recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, of Phenix, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Marshall, recently.

There has been some moving since the New Year. Mr. Myers has moved to the old McDaniel place and Mr. Mullin has bought the Bill Overby place and moved in.

EVERGREEN

Well, as the ground hog has served his time we are hoping for nice weather now and the March winds are drying up the mudy roads.

With the opening of Spring the Sunday Schools and young people societies are taking on new life. The Epworth League had a splendid program Sunday night led by Mr Tipton Paulett.

Mrs. Lillie Moses of Pamplin, was Sunday guest of her sister, Mrs. E. G. Harvey.

Miss Mary Smith who had her tonsils removed is getting along nicely.

Mesdames. J. R. Hamilton and Ella Jennings went to Roanoke Sunday to attend the funeral of Mr. Perkins one of the oldest engineers on this division of the N.&W.

Mrs. T. T. Evans and daughter, Miss Louise, visited Mr. Lawrence Brown at Baptist Hospital in Lynchburg, and report him as getting along nicely.

Misses Ruby and Edna Wooldridge and Messrs. Willard and Jack Paulett were guests of Miss Rachel Paulett.

Mrs. W. B Thomas, who has been visiting here, has returned to Lovingston, where her husband is a guard at the convict camp.

Miss Elvira Martin of Lynchburg, was week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Martin.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Program for Sunday night led by J. J. Farrar.

Opening hymn — When the Morning Comes.

Scripture reading — Rachel Paulett, Math. 21:1-17, Luke 19:1-10, Mark 5:1-17

Short prayer—by Leader.

Song — True Hearted, Whole Hearted.

Closing prayer—J. P. Paulett.

Prayer for our Epworth League Staff and Board—Hunter Ferguson.

The Test—Mrs. F. E. Woolridge.

The Church — Newton Jennings.

Luke 18:15-23—Ronald Paulett.

The All-Inclusive Christ—Verta Simms.

If Jesus Should Come to Our Church—Ursula Wooldridge.

Jesus In the Home—Tip Paulett.

Jesus In Our Community—J. P. Paulett.

B. Y. P. U.

Study course week ended last Thursday night, with 22 members taking the examinations and passing with splendid grades. The B. Y. P. U. Manual and Administration were the books taught, with Rev. Goad and Miss Madian Lee as teachers.

The Union gave a St. Patrick's Social Friday night at the home of J. R. Hamilton, with about 60 present and all seemed to enjoy it.

"Winning the Lost, One by One" is the topic for next Sunday night. Come, worship with us.

Criticism Not Enough

The prime thing that every man who takes an interest should remember is that he must not and not merely criticise the actions of others.—Theodore Roosevelt

HAD THAT "DON'T CARE" FEELING

Didn't Believe That Anything Could Help.

I was having so much distress with my stomach that I got so I did not care about anything, so writes Charles Fisher of Bunker Hill, Ill.

The gas pains, bloating and nausea made life miserable. I feared to eat because I knew that I would have to suffer from it. Thus I was starving and weakening myself until I hardly had energy and strength to work.

I was so nervous that I could not rest well and when morning came I felt drowsy and tired as when I went to bed.

I had tried so many things without relief that I was about discouraged—I really didn't believe that anything would help me, but I had to try to get some relief, so when Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic was recommended to me I tried it.

To my surprise it seemed to hit the spot. The first dose helped my digestion and after a half bottle was taken my appetite had improved to such an extent that it seemed as if I couldn't get enough to eat, and the best part of it is that food no longer hurts me. Altogether I have taken three bottles. I feel much stronger and my general health has improved wonderfully.

If you suffer from gas, belching, sour stomach, until you are run down, depressed and in a highly nervous condition because of it, we owe it to yourself to try Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic. It has put thousands back on their feet and has given them the happiness of health and strength again.

There is danger in delay—get a bottle today.

I would make health-getting secrets more popular than money-getting.

HUMAN WEATHER VANE IS THIS MAN'S JOB

All He Does Is Tell Which Way Wind Blows.

Washington.—Of all the queer jobs in the world probably none is stranger than that of official weather vane. Imagine having a position at a fair salary with nothing to do but to tell in which direction the wind is blowing—or likely to blow! This job exists at the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture here, and it is a busy one, for numbers of people all over the country write to to find out in what direction the wind is coming from!

The inquirers are not humorists, professional or otherwise, who have nothing else to do and want to stir up a little annoyance and excitement. They are people with serious interests in life. The maxim that it is an ill wind that blows nobody any good has in a measure been adopted by the human wind indicator at the nation's capital. It is his business to find out if any air disturbance, variously known as a zephyr, a gale or just plain wind, is going to work any one any harm.

Must Report on Wind.

Those especially interested in determining air currents have specific objects in view, such as to find out the prevailing direction of a wind in a certain locality in which a glue factory or a garbage disposal plant has been or will be established. Officials of a city government, the heads of a manufacturing plant, real estate dealers or mere householders may all be interested in determining the prevailing direction of winds in a given region. It is a climatological point which must be investigated and determined upon. Who is better fitted to report on the knotty problem than the weather man at Washington?

And so the party interested sits down and writes a letter. The letter goes to the weather bureau and the human weather vane gets to work. It becomes his business to find out and report on all the actions of the suspected and, maybe, guilty air current. In other words, it is his business to know from which quarter of the earth a wind is likely to emerge and how often it may do so within a specified time.

Of course, if it is a no-account, shifty, unstable wind, or one that is likely to blow from all quarters at once, why he is supposed to know that, too. Anything is welcome to the inquirer if it sheds light on the kind of wind he or she is interested in. This sought after information may persuade the writer to buy or not to buy property in a location that, the winds adversely affect.

Get Many Queries.

"A steady stream of letters flows in to us from interested people seeking information on a wide variety of subjects," said a weather bureau official recently. "Immediately information may be wanted on the current or seasonal weather, or more particular facts concerning the climate or prevailing weather conditions of a particular locality.

"City governments and manufacturing plants often want to know the normal direction of the winds in a certain region with reference to locating plants that give off undesirable odors in such a way that near-by dwellers will be least concerned.

"Statistics of wind force and direction assist engineers in the building of water supply systems to be operated by windmills; in determining the origin of fires from flying sparks, or in avoiding such fires by proper placing of chimneys; in ascertaining the pressure to which buildings will be subjected under stress of heavy storms and the surface movement of lake waters in connection with the disposal of city sewage. Sometimes this part of the bureau serves the useful purpose of warning would-be real estate purchasers of conditions they had not inquired into with enough diligence.

Grand Duke's Widow Seeks to Sell Gems

London.—The Daily Mail says that two famous jewels from the imperial Russian treasury are being offered for sale in London, but this time not by the Bolsheviks.

They are the property of the widow of Grand Duke Nicholas. The grand duchess is a sister of the queen of Italy, and it was from the Italian court the two gems were brought to England with a request to Commander Cameron, M. P., a friend of the grand duke, to assist in their disposal.

The gems originally belonged to the Empress Catherine. One is a diamond rose diamond for which it is said the late Emperor Nicholas refused an offer of £150,000. The other is a seventeen-carat emerald. The paper says the grand duchess wants between £50,000 (about $250,000) and £60,000 ($300,000) for the two.

New Source of Paper Discovered in Alaska

Washington.—Southeastern Alaska is recognized by government foresters as a permanent source of pulpwood for paper manufacture, with water-power resources, tidewater transportation and a climate permitting a year-round operation of paper plants and shipping.

Pulpwood production is estimated at 1,500,000 cords yearly, enough for 1,000,000 tons of newsprint annually in perpetuity, or more than a quarter the present American consumption.

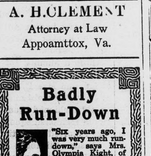
Badly Run-Down



"Six years ago, I was very much rundown," says Mrs. Olympia Kight, of Loyal, Wis. "I did not sleep well, and felt weak and run-down. I dragged around the house with not enough strength to do my daily tasks. I worried a lot, and this disturbed state of mind reacted on my health.

"I had often read of Cardui, so I thought I would try it. I soon began to improve after I had taken Cardui for a while. "It was astonishing how much I picked up. I slept better; my appetite improved, and that awful dragging-down feeling left me.

"I was so much better that I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well."

Cardui has been used by women for over 50 years. For sale by all druggists.

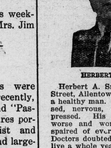
GIVEN ONLY ONE YEAR TO LIVE

Allentown Man, Nervous, Sick and Failing, Gains 14 Lbs. and Gets Back on His Feet.



HERBERT A. SNYDER

Herbert A. Snyder, 1012 Turner Street, Allentown, Pa., went to war a healthy man. He came back gassed, nervous, run-down and depressed. His condition became worse and worse. Soon he despaired of ever being well again. Doctors doubted whether he would live a whole year.

Today Mr. Snyder is a changed man. He has regained his health. He has added fourteen pounds to his weight. His appetite is unusually good. His nervousness and depression are gone. He sleeps well and has plenty of energy and ambition.

What caused this wonderful change? What brought back the joy of living to this War Veteran; cast away his despondency and give him health and happiness? Ask Mr. Snyder and he will tell you he owes the change to the marvelous effects of Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic, the nations' strength-builder.

"I can recommend Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic to anyone who is run-down," says Mr. Snyder, "or for anyone who is nervous, depressed, sleepless and lacking in appetite as I was.

"I admit, I was rather discouraged with myself before I found Paw-Paw. I was suffering from the gassing I got in the war, I was losing weight, couldn't sleep, had poor appetite, was self-conscious and depressed. My doctors and friends thought I would not live a year.

"I heard of Paw-Paw Tonic and went to the drug store and sampled it. I liked it and took home a bottle and took it according to directions. The result is that I have gained fourteen pounds, sleep like a baby, feel good all over, have more pep and ambition. I think Paw-Paw is a wonderful tonic."

Doctors agree that many bodily ills are due to disordered stomachs. Forms of nervous headaches, sleeplessness, depression, heartburn, gas pains and bad breath have their origin there for when the stomach is sick one is sick all over. When the condition of the stomach is improved the blood will be better. When the blood is rich and pure the nerves will be more normal, thus the health of the entire body will be improved.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic contains the dried juice of the Paw-Paw fruit known to be Nature's greatest aid to digestion. It is an Ideal Tonic, Laxative, Digestant, and System Cleanser.

I believe in my remedies. I know that they will do all that I claim for them.
